

Wine Spectator

MAY 31 2006

90 Zisola Sicilia 2004 $19 Blackberry, fresh herbs and earth, with a hint of oak on the nose. Medium-bodied, with a tight bead of black fruit and mineral driving through the finish, held together by light but firm tannins. Well-defined and delicious. The first wine from this new estate. From the Mazzei family of Tuscany. Nero d'Avola. Drink now through 2008. 5,000 cases made.—J.S.