Mazzei 2006 Zisola

Sicily, Sicily, Italy

The Mazzei family is best know for their Tuscan wines, most notably those of Fonterutoli, but in recent years they have begun making wines in Sicily as well. Oenologist Carlo Ferrini oversees winemaking. The 2006 Zisola is a dark, brooding wine that shows the wilder, animalistic side of Nero d'Avola. This gorgeous red is endowed with plenty of dark fruit, earthiness, sage and mint, not to mention considerable personality. Today it comes across as somewhat chunky and rustic but another few months in bottle should help smooth the edges.
